ASIA-PACIFIC'S LEADING HYDROGEN AND DECARBONISATION SUMMIT

Asia-Pacific's leading summit for hydrogen, green industrialisation and industrial decarbonisation returns in 2027.

Queensland is becoming a major hub for industrial transformation and clean industry investment, with projects spanning hydrogen, ammonia, green fuels, green metals and industrial decarbonisation. As investment gathers pace across the region, Brisbane provides an ideal meeting place for the organisations, partnerships and ideas shaping the future of industrial development in Australia and the Asia-Pacific.

The Asia-Pacific Green Industrialisation Summit brings together the industries, technologies, fuels and infrastructure driving this change.

Bringing together project developers, energy producers, industrial end users, investors and policymakers, the Summit provides a platform to explore the opportunities, challenges and partnerships that will shape the next phase of industrial growth, competitiveness and emissions reduction.

> Excellent event that pulled together high-profile speakers from government and industry. Great vibe among participants and so good to see projects in execution being showcased. All topics were to the point – where is hydrogen today and where will it not be, how has its role changed and our expectations, what to expect next. Very timely with Headstart deadline for shortlisted companies having just elapsed, definitely added to the vibe of excitement!
> The new format drew everyone into the sessions, giving them the attention they deserved and making for good conversation material at the networking events. Influence industry conversations and market direction.

> Thank you again for bringing everyone together for such a fantastic conference. It was great to see the progress being made across a range of projects and to learn about the diverse topics covered, extending beyond hydrogen alone. The panellists were highly knowledgeable and provided valuable insights into the subjects discussed."
